

Trade Show Review

IBS New York (International Beauty Show) & the IECSC (Esthetics, Cosmetics & Spa Conference)

Review by Leonard & Gladys Rapoport - 5/7/08

How many readers remember Ron Popeil and his remarkable GLH-9 Hair in a Can Spray. Ron use to bring up a member of the audience and with in a few moments he would spray their thinning hair with this product and they looked like they all had a full head of hair.

Well the days of scalp paint have now dissapeared and they have been replaced with a new system by XFusion that actually adds Keratin Hair Fibers to your existing hair. Imagine going to that important event and looking like you haven't aged a day since college. The product comes in all hair colors and is available in a shaker container and has an optional sprayer you can attach to the container if you want to spray it instead of shake it.

You have to visit their site to see how amazing this product works. Listen, it won't replace your real hair, but on that first date after your painful divorce or that important interview for that new job, this is a great solution to turn back the clock and make you sparkle. Special thanks to Evan Shafran the actor and company rep who you will see on their web site and in their demo video.